SECTION B (54 Marks)

Answer all questions in this section

3. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow

It was gradually getting dark. The wedding ceremony was over and people were leaving for their respective homes. I decided to entertain my brother and his newly wed bride with a video show. There was no electricity in the village and so I had to carry a small generator with me from Dar Es Salaam. I sent someone outside to switch it on. As soon as the power was on we settled to watch the show.

In no time a crowd had formed at the door of our house. Men, women youngsters and children were all struggling to have a glimpse of the show. They could not however be accommodated in the house as it was small. I went over to see if I could send them away politely. Before I had said anything, an old man shouted. "look here son" he said "this witchcraft is new to us. Why don't you bring it outside so that we can all see it?

The old man was absolutely right. The video and television technology is new in our land. It so fascinated him that he called it "witchcraft". What then is this wonderful technology and how does it work?

Television is system of transmitting moving pictures by radio or cable. With the aid of a television camera, visual images are changed into electrical signals. These are then combined with radio waves and broadcast in the same way as ordinary sound signals. A television set receives these signals and one can watch them on the screen. However, in order to enable the television set to receive these signals properly, a powerful antenna is needed if the transmitting station is very far away if it is near, only a simple indoor antenna will do.

A television set can also be used for video viewing. You only need to insert a video cassette into a video cassette recorder (VCR) before connecting it to a television set. A VCR resembles a normal audio tape recorder in this mechanism. It has buttons for recording, stop, play, eject, rewind, fast, forward, and pause. When power is switched on in the two machines, and the control are adjusted, pictures from the video cassette tape can be watched on the television screen and sound can be heard

Television technology has been very useful to man in several ways. Commercial television programmes have been a great source of income to the government and private owners of television stations. In countries where many people own television sets, this technology is a more effective means of reaching large audiences faster than newspapers do. Education and health are other areas that can benefit greatly from television and video. Educational and health programmes can be watched live. In educational instructions and teaching aids. In developed countries, security in airports, railways stations and big supermarket has also been improved with the use of television technology

It should not be forgotten however that a lot of useful time can be wasted when watching television and video. Students in particular need to be very wise about whether to stay and watch or go and do their homework. In some countries, the social behavior of teenager has been seriously affected by what they see in TV. Antisocial behavior such as awkward hair styles and ways of dressing are some of the examples

So apart from the fact that a TV set can bring a national leader into your home or take you to the national stadium to watch a live football match, a person has to watch it with care.

9. Read the given poem and answer the questions that follow

Don't take my,word little bird,
For I'm just like a child,
That speaks to imitate,
Repeating after its mate,
'I love you, I love you'
These words are not mine.

I utter them crooked,
Like the very world,
That taught me to talk,
'I love you, I love you'
Concealing with fake flowers,
The jagged rocks beneath,
Standing hard and ready,
To stab your unsuspecting bottom,
As it falls on the seemingly soft soil
Slightly scratched by hosty ploughs

Don't listen to me, honey bee,
As I sing climbing your tree
Honey hunters taught me the trick,
To sing the song and make you sick

With song and smoke in search of sweetness
They calm your sting and make you helpless
You lie deep in slumber
While your hive they plunder
And away they go, avoiding your anger,
Till too late you know they brought you hunger
Don't long for my word, therefore,
And for my cooked mouth to utter
The useless to your ears
I love you I love you'
Don't look at me when I say
I love you
But seek for truth instead
