THE PRESIDENT'S OFFICE
REGIONAL ADMINISTRATION AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT
LONGIDO DISTRICT

FORM THREE ANNUAL EXAMINATION
051 FOOD AND HUMAN NUTRITION

Time: 3 Hours November 2025

Instructions

1. The examination consists sections A, B and C.
2. Answer all questions in sections A and B and 2 questions in sections C
3. All writing should be in blue or black ink.
4. Write your examination number on every page of your answer booklets

SECTION A (16 MARKS)

Answer all questions in this section.

1. Choose the correct answer from the given alternative and write the letter of the correct answer beside the item number.

   (i) Depression, inflamed and painful nerves, irritability, weak muscles, defective memory and anxiety are characteristics symptoms of.

   A. Deficiency of thiamine
   B. Deficiency of riboflavin
   C. Deficiency of Niacin
   D. Deficiency of ascorbic acid
   E. Deficiency of retinal

   (ii) Your father is suffering from diabetes, as a student of Food and Human Nutrition, who will you advise him to see for advice and treatment.

   A. A nutritionist
   B. A chef
   C. A dietitian
   D. A food scientist
   E. A tacler

   (iii) Many people claim that pasta is the product of cereals. As an expert, identify a specific cereal from which is obtained?

   A. Wheat
   B. Millet
   C. Maize
   D. Sorghum
   E. Barely

   (iv) Students in the classroom argue that grain has protein. From the knowledge you have, identify the kind of protein present in wheat.

   A. Myosin
   B. Albumen
   E. lysine
   C. Casinogen
   D. Gluten

   (v) Food handlers can cause food contamination if they do not

   A. Handle them properly
   B. Sieve the flour before cooking

C. Do correct shopping
D. Measure ingredients properly before use
E. Use the correct temperature during cooking

(vi) Mixing wheat flour and water during bread making forms elastic dough that can retain gases and expand. This is successful due to the presence of …….in the flour
A. Fat
B. Gluten
C. Starch
D. Raising agent
E. Protein

(vii) One of the following spices is derived from the root of a plant and is commonly used in cake and bread mixture:
A. Ginger
B. Vanilla
C. Cinnamon
D. Nutmeat
E. Beans

(viii) Mr. Seypalm has been experiencing stomach pain to the extent that he cannot eat well. The doctor told him that he had constipation due to inappropriate eating habit. Which types of food were missing in his meal?
A. Fatty foods
B. Fibers foods
C. Spiced foods
D. Sweet foods
E. Processed foods

(ix) Why are soya beans valuable in the vegan's diet?
A. They contain low biological value protein
B. They are rich source of fat soluble vitamins
C. They good source of fat and protein
D. They contain high biological value protein
E. They contain both saturated and non-saturated fat.

(x) In every community, well-being and environmental hygiene is required to protect people from infections. What do we call such a situation?
A. Public health
B. Cleaning a house
C. House compound
D. Sanitation process
E. Waste disposal

2. Match the description of pressure cooker in column A with its parts in column B by writing the letter of the correct response beside the item number.

COLUMN A	COLUMN B
(i) It maintains the pressure required to cook food	A. Over pressure regulator
(ii) It allows excess steam to escape so as to maintain the required internal pressure.	B. Body handle C. Air vent
(iii) It automatically releases air from the pressure cooker.	D. Sealing ring
(iv) The ring forms a seal between the cover and the body of pressure cooker.	E. Cover or lid F. Vent pipe
(v) It releases excess pressure from the cooker	G. Pressure regulator
(vi) It used to remove the cover from the cooker.	H. Cover handle

SECTION B (54 MARKS)

Answer all questions in this section.

3. As a form three student with knowledge about bread making, educate your fellow students on:
   (a) The meaning of glazing.
   (b) Identify types of glazing (Give three points)
   (c) Outline five characteristics of a good quality bread.

4. (a) Explain five agents of food spoilage.
   (b) Give four food contaminants.

5. A form one student has observed that there are some changes occuring in her body after meeting with his boyfriends during the holiday; she sought your advice. After observing her you discover some signs that are clearly observable. Advise her by:
   (a) Briefly explaining four signs of pregnancy
   (b) Briefly explaining to her on the importance of attending antenatal clinic. (Give three points)
   (c) Outline two proper nutrition for her.

6. Your Food and Human Nutrition teacher teaches you different cooking methods by using various available foods in your community. Show your knowledge by:
   (a) Giving two advantages and two disadvantages of steaming and grilling methods
   (b) Outline three reasons for cooking food.

7. As an expert of food and nutrition, a wedding committee has selected you to plan and supervise different dishes, which will be eaten in the wedding party in your community. The committee also expects you to direct other members to perform well in this practice. Educate other committee members by:
   (a) Giving the meaning of cereals, and stating four examples of them.
   (b) Outlining the uses of Cereals (Give four points)
   (c) Explaining four disadvantages of white flour.

8. Sarah is a 30-year-old pregnant woman in her third trimester. She is concerned about ensuring she and her baby receive adequate nutrition for optimal health. Sarah has a history of iron deficiency anemia and is worried about the nutritional needs of her growing baby.
   (a) You as an expert, describe the nutritional requirements for Sarah during pregnancy, focusing on:
      (i) Iron
      (ii) Folic acid
      (iii) Calcium
      (iv) Protein
   (b) Outline the diet you would recommend for Sarah? (Give four points)

SECTION C (30 MARKS)

Answer only two questions from this section

9. A food processing company is developing a new line of frozen meals. The meals will contain a variety of ingredients, including fruits, vegetables, meats, and whole grains. The company wants to ensure that the nutritional value of the meals is preserved during processing, storage, and cooking. As a Nutritionist, advise the company on the factors that can affect the stability of nutrients in food during processing, storage, and cooking. Use specific examples to illustrate how different nutrients can be affected.

10. The need for special attention to be given to food hygiene involves everyone who is directly or indirectly participating in food handling. Support this statement by explaining:
    (a) Four ways by which food may be contaminated
    (b) Five points to observe in order to control food contamination.

11. Anew bakery is opening in your town, and you have been hired as a pastry chef to design and produce a range of high -quality pastries that appeal to a diverse customer base. Describe the rules which are always used in making a good pastry.