Answer all questions in this section

3. Read the following passage carefully and then answer the questios that follows.

Work is any lawful activity that a person does to earn living; it can be mental or physical activity. Work is observed as great deal of industrious, diligent, effort and endurance accompanied with self-discipline. We work hard for thind we think about and plan for, that will lead us to happiness, success or wellbeing. The path to success is hard work. There is no short cut , no easy way. We are all looking for values that can guide us in our lives. We want to make sense of what we do it. We are hoping that our lives purpose will lead us to success and eventually to happiness and peace of mind.

Recently the government has taken serious efforts to encourage every adult and abled Tanzanian to work hard, not just for personal but also for national development. There are efforts taken to provide education to majority of citizens from primary level to tertiary level. The numerous Vocation training centres intend to foster patriotism, self-reliance and efficient skilled labour for national development. We desire to offer our physical and mental ability to work , whether employed or self-employed. No one works hard for nothing; we have reasons for working hard such as family to support, dreams to work toward and curiosities to satisfy. Work give us innate sense of liberty inside all of us, help us to survive, to amuse ourselves and we also want to make an impact and leave legacy when we die. Work give us status in the community, foster self-actualization and shelf-satification. Working hard increase production; production contributes to tax, which is important for the government to drives goods and services. This is only possible if thprpere is sense of commitment among the citizens.
